 - Abstract: Information Integrity(I*I) standards have emerged as world wide standards for providing a framework for measuring the decision making in uncertain business environment. In IT outsourcing industry where the business is critical and high risk , to ensure I*I in decision making is even more desirable. The conceptual research will present this problem and attempt to model a solutioun for the same using I*I technologies
- "Design of a Management Information System Model for Sustainable Competitive advantage in different retail formats in India “AICTE sponsored project
- An empirical study was carried out last year across 4 retail outlets in 6 cities in India. The data analysis has been done and following papers are being planned with relevant conceptual back up
- An empirical analysis of factors affecting consumer satisfaction due to technological intervention in Indian retail.
- An empirical analysis of supplier behaviour due to technological intervention in Indian retail.

- An empirical analysis of employee satisfaction due to technological intervention in Indian retail.
